Access a good life

CCS DISABILITY ACTION

works with disabled people and their families in the mid-central to ensure everyone gets the individualised support and the information they want and need.

This is a free service that offers support to access the newly transformed disability support system, Mana Whaikaha (Enabling Good Lives).

CCS Disability Action is committed to ensuring no one misses out through a special emphasis on supporting isolated rural communities.

Our staff won't ask you to come to us. Instead, our highly trained, friendly staff will bring their expertise to you.

Our organisation is governed by disabled people and their families so we know how important it is to be flexible and to listen to the people we support. We don't try and squeeze everyone into the same service box.

We are responsive and adaptable and we take direction from the people we support.

We've been working with disabled people for over 80 years so we have the expertise and the knowledge to know what's available in the disability support system and how you can best access and use it.

Our organisation can support you to access a full range of alternative solutions and support you to manage your personal budget. Our staff will work with you and your whānau to plan for a good life by accessing the best supports available to suit your individual needs.
